

Building Creative Communities with Music

This immersive 3-day applied training goes beyond “music-in-care” workshops. It is designed and facilitated by registered music therapists and social workers from Ren Ci’s Psychosocial Services. Through a blend of theory, live demonstrations, and guided practice, participants will gain understanding of the needs of elders and learn how to use music sensitively and purposefully - not merely as entertainments, but as a relational tool to foster inclusive and personalized social connections among elders and with their families
